German Industrialist Says France Must Aid His Country.

Berlin, Jan. 15 .- "Europe will go to smash within six months unless France and Germany get together and form an industrial amalgamation in which France's interest will be engaged in behalf of Germany's recovery and prosperity instead of Germany's ruin.

This declaration was made to International News Service today by Arnold Rechberg, German industrialist, who has just returned from Paris where he had long talks with Premier Poincare, Marshal Foch and others and where his famous "30 per cent plan" was debated in his presence in the French chamber of deputies. Herr Rechberg, who was formerly an aide to the ex-crown prince, continued his

"Such an agreement cannot be brought about through the propositions urged by Hugo Stinnes and his fellow magnates who merely want to make a profitable business deal and who have not yet realized that Germany is in no position to dictate terms, but lies prostrate at France's

"It is better to accept a sane and amicable business solution while that is obtainable instead of courting new strangling pressure from France.

"Premier Poincare's closing sentence to me at the end of our conference was: "I want not only peaceful relations with Germany, but friendly relations-very friendly relations.'

The whole question of war or peace with France resolves itself into a duel between Stinnes and Rechberg. The latter is bitterly hated by the Nationalists. The entire Nationalist and Industrialist press is attacking him as Yet the fact are:

Rechberg is the only German who has broached a reparations plan that Premier Poincare has even listened to. Non partisans concede that it appears to be the only plan by which Germany can save what is salvagable from the war's wreckage. For five years, with merciless realism and rapier-like logic Rechberg has opposed the polic yof Germany's heavy industry. A year ago when he predicted the failure of passive resistance, his was a voice crying in the wildness. Now Rochberg has request. ed an interview with Chancellor Marx in order to make a report up his Paris

Powerful influences are working to prevent the audience but International News Service is able to state that Rechberg's backing will force the chancellor to receive him.

'What about the Stinnes plan as outlined in the Journal Des Debats?" Rechberg was asked.

'The trouble with Stinnes and his whole clique is that they underestimate the strength and intelligence of their opponents," replied Rechberg. "They are now pursuing the same insane gambling policy they carried on last year when they recklessly invited Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr. Patriotism was their cry then; patriotism is their cry today.

'Yet these same men were calling me traitor because I predicted the Ruhr occupation was doomed to ignominious failure. Stinnes must think the French are fools."

TABOO SHAVING DURING EXAMS

Oberlin, O. Jan. 15-Time spent with the safety razor is vanity and use of cosmetics fritters away moments better spent in "boning up" for the tricky exams of hard hearted "profs," members of the sophomore class of Oherlin college declared today, voting to taboo shaving and use of cosmetics during examination week, which begins January 26 and ends February 2.

However, get this right, fellows. It's the boys who aren't going to shave and the girls who are going to taboo the lipstick for one week.

Port Arthur, Tex. Jan. 15-Eight men are dead, six of them identified, five lie perhaps fatally burned in hospitals, and thirty others were reported burned, a checkup of the ruins of the Texas Company oil refinery plant here, destroyed by explosion, revealed today.

The known dead: W. C. Moye, of Beaumont; J. W. Sroas, of Weatherford; B. C. Rench, Charles Bell, T. A. Carter, R. C. Rawlinson all of Port Arthur. Two charred bodies taken from the emoking debris this morning have not yet been identified, it was reported by company officials.

Washington, Jan. 15.-The regular Republicans in the house were bowled over again by the insurgent-Democratic combination.

The overturn came this time in the thick of the fight for liberalization of the rules. This defeat marks the third the conservatives have suffered since the Sixty-eighth congress was convened, Dec. 3.

The new demonstration of coalition centrol was made on a motion by Rapresentative Garrett, the Democratic leader, to repeal the so-called Underwood rule, requiring that an amendment to a revenue or tariff bild must be germane to the subject mutter of the bill and "directly relate" to the item of such bill then under consideration.

The vote was 208 to 177. Twentyfour Republicans bolted their party leaders and dined up with the Democrats, who stood solid. Representatives Berger, Socialist of Wisconsin; Kvale, independent; Wefald, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota, voted with the combination. Beak, Democrat of Virgimia, voted present.

The 24 insurgent-progressives were: Beck, Brown, Cooper, Frear, Nelson, Peavy, Schaefer, Schneider and Voight, Wisconsin; Clague, Davis, Keller, Knutson and Schall, Minnesota; James, Micherner and Woodruff, Michigan; Fish and LeGuardia, New York; Kelley, Pennsylvania; Reid, Minois; Ramseyer, Iowa; Simmons and Sinclair, North Dakota.

The importance of the overthrow of the majority organization was instartly reflected in a statement by Chairman Green of the ways and means committee that it "places one more stumbling block in the way of revenue degislation." His statement added: "The change made would permit amendments to a revenue bill key. which are not germane to any of its provisions. In order to have any hope of passing a new revenue bill of such length and complexity as the one now before the committee, there must be at least some limit upon debate and some limit upon the nature of the amendments that can be offerreci."

Representative Garrett said his amendment in effect only struck out the requirement that amendments "directly relate" to the item to which they are offered. The general rules ing to official announcement made require that they be germane to the subject matter of the bill, he assented.

Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, the insurgent-progressive for its production in my dominions leader, stated his chief reason for but these proposals were not accepted supporting the repeal was that the by the country." rule would prevent consideration of an amendment to the forthcoming tar bill restoring the excess profits tax.

London, Jan. 15 .- "My ministers, in common with British dominion representatives, have been anxious to recit importation of liquor to the United States and have made proposal for an agreement, which is on the eye of conclusion and which should further strengthen the happy relations prevailing between the two countries and the two peoples," said King George in a speech from the throne today opening the business session of the new

FIGHTING FOR PRESIDENCY IN MEXICO.

The Mexicans are still demonstrating their instinctive preference for bullets over ballots as a means of determining their presidential succession. Following hotfoot on the news that President Obregon was coming out openly in favor of General Calles instead of Mr. De la Huerta for the presidency came word of a lively revolutionary uprising on the part of De La Huerta's friends. The revolt had its stronghold in the state of Vera Cruz and the city of that name and also Jalapa, the capital of the state, were quickly seized by the revolutionaries in spite of the opposition of the national troops. There was unrest also in Zacatecas, Jalisco and several other states of the republic. Among the dispatches from Mexico City one announced that General Calles had abandoned his candidacy and was taking the field against the Huertistas. So far as anything except the personal rivalries of Mexican politicians can be seen to be involved in the quarrel it is perhaps that the party of De la Huerta is less radical than the other. President Obregon condemns it as "reactionary" and accuses its leaders of desiring to restore some of the conditions that existed in Mexico before the great revolution of 1911. The De la Huerta partisans asy that General Calles is ineligible to the presidency because his father was a Turk.

BEING BUSY.

When people tell one another how busy they are or have been although they are likely to lament the "busyness," they usually regard it as creditable. And yet to be busy is not necessarily to be engaged in anything worth while. Being busy and working are by no means synonymous. The disparaging expression "a busybody" arose from a perception of that fact. People who keep themselves pretty constantly occupied with work have no time or inclination for mischief-making, yet people can busy themselves in making mischief. They can busythemselves too in ways that do no special harm to others and that are yet futile and frivolous. A great many people, for example, are busy performing social acts and rites that have no particular value.

Being busy in the sense of being constantly occupied with the little complications in the web of life is a harassing and discouraging form of activity. Yet nowadays people give more time and effort to the attempt to deal with such complications than ever before—because the complications are more numerous

The persons who are busy most of the time on productive, interesting work of some kind, and who do not allow the element of busyness to invade their hours of recreation and relaxation, have a sound philosophy of life and are living in accordance with it.

"IF YOUR LIPS WOULD KEEP FROM SLIPS."

A pleasant little incident is related of the goodness of beloved Frances Willard in her home at Evanston. Above her desk in large print, was this suggestive saying "Let something good be said." It carried with it a gentle hint with a broad meaning. It was a rebuke to gossip and slander.

After her sister died she wrote a book in memory of her young life. It is called "Nineteen Beautiful Years."

This young sister's dying words were: "Tell everybody to be good." Thoughtless sayings and unguarded speech are like a firebrand in a small village or a rural community. Nobody intends to do harm. When a woman has many callers there is serious mischief done in an innocent way. Some people can not repeat a piece of news correctly. They are prone to put a different meaning to a tale. Some people are a little deaf, and get hold of things wrong. Some misunderstand names. Malicious people like to add to a scandal to make it travel faster. A dear neighbor of mine is a dear friend no longer. I have put a quietus on our friendship, for she badly betrayed my confidence. While in sorrow I confided to her in sacred confidence. Her desire to "tell news" was so great she scattered it broadcast. It returned to me greatly distorted. I did not reprove her for misplaced confidence, but just let her alone. I seldom go to her home. It seems that she knew no better.

Now workmen are cutting the floor away from the walls on all sides, so that it will have room for expansion. They say that remedy will correct the situation.

In order to have the building as perfect as possible before the board makes the final payment, Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz has called on all subcontractors to correct defects found. As a result, in addition to the carpenters at the building, wrokmen employed by the Sanitary Engineering Co., Anderson, Ind., have been at the school a week, regulating the heating apparatus. The heating plant worked properly until the recent extreme cold spell. Workmen were sent for immediately, and they have now regulatd the plant, so that, they say, it will heat the building uniformly during the coldest weather. The Direct Opposite Of A Puzzle

Some newspapers run a puzzle department for the amusement of their readers, running the puzzles one day and publishing the answers the next. In fact, some newspap ers run wo tpuzzle departments—as you will find if you consult their classified section. And they never publish the answers to the most important of these departments.

But the A-B-C Classified Section of the Gazette and Republican isn't built on the puzzle plan. You don't have to wander through a maze of words to find what you want among its offers. There's nothing puzzling about it at all!

The numerical guides and the alphabetical cataloguing of the opportunities in this section make it the direct opposite of a puzzle!

And the only answer it demands are those which its profitable offers call forth as the connecting link between the prosperity seeker and his opportunity. Read this systematized list of opportunities today and every day!

EGGS PLENTIFUL DESPITE SEASON:

The annual January egg shortage in this section doesn't exist.

For the first time in several years, eggs for all purposes are plentiful and low in price in comparison with prevailing prices in the large centers of the Middle West. And the price is still dropping.

The unusual warm The reason? weather, which prevailed until a weke ago, which kept Mrs. Hen on the job. At least, that's what County Farm Bureau Agent Ford S. Prince says, and he ought to know. Hens that in other years went on a strike in the fall, and continued until Christmas time, have "carried on" and the result has been a good supply of good eggs. Market quotations on fresh eggs Monday was 30 cents. This is about 15 cents lower than in Springfield . In Chicago, housewives are reported boycoting the egg market until prices dropped. Storage eggs shipped in from Chicako to western cities are selling for 35 cents a dozen.

The larger number of farmers keeping chickens in the last two years, who followed the correct method of flock-keping as outlined by the Farm Bureau, has also been a contributing factor, it is said. Shortages in the egg market year after year had the effect of starting more farmers into to the poultry business. Most of the newcomers in the egg field have just brought their flocks up to the point of production, and the result is overproduction and lower prices
